

2007 REVIEW

FARRY L PURKISS

You're all invited to Farryl's New Year's party. No, really...

So what would you say has been the highlight of your year?

It's just been a crazy year all round. All the travelling and festivals. I've met some of my heroes that I didn't even think I'd ever get to see in concert, never mind share a stage with them. Acts like Ben Harper, Muse and Violent Femmes. Amazing!

And you made the heat Hot 100 list too...

I'm still a new kid on the block, so I couldn't believe it. It absolutely blew me away. I thought I was just going to go to the heat Hot 100 party and have a jol with my friends, so to find out I was at number 19 was a big shock.

What are you hoping to get in your stocking this year?

I want the new iPod Touch. I want that thing so bad...

Have you got any plans for the holidays?

I'll probably take a drive up the West Coast with some mates and stuff like that. I just want to relax...

And for 2008?

I'm hoping to start my own charity. I'd like to start off with a couple of fundraisers for the SPCA, because I've got a soft spot for animals. And I'll be recording my album!

Is there anything you wish you could change about 2007?

The only regret is that I took two pairs of shoes to Germany and lost one pair. I walked around in slops in the snow for almost two days before I got to buy some more.

Where will you be spending New Year's Eve?

New Year's Eve we'll probably be having a house party. I live with mates and we had a big party last year. Our three-bedroom cottage in Camps Bay was filled with about 200 people. The cops pitched up and we eventually got them involved in the party too.

We're planning to do it again. Just a huge party, so whoever wants to come is welcome!

You'll regret saying that when all our readers pitch up...

I'm not going to give my address out, but if they know it they can rock up! Camps Bay is the only clue...

Is there anybody special you want to kiss at midnight on New Year's Eve?

There is a girl who I have a crush on, but I can't tell you her name yet. She's the type of girl that you would SMS and she would SMS you back like a week later. I've been trying hard, but she's been playing it by the old rules.

So is the feeling mutual?

I hope so! Otherwise I'd be wasting a lot of airtime. If she wasn't interested at all I don't think she would reply. I just think she's very old-school. But I do like it like that...
